Captured Amid an Escort of Men in Clerical Dress.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.

A crowd of fully 1,000 persons taken and hooted as Mrs. Pankhurst was taken to Holloway jail to resume serving her three year sentence for having incited the burning of the house of David Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

It is said to say that Mrs. Pankhurst will go on her usual hunger strike and will be released again on license in a few days.

FORBID CASSAGNACS TO FIGHT GERMAN WRITERS

Proposed Duels Over Hansi Case Abandoned, as Challengers Have No Case.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
PARIS, July 16.—It appears now as if neither Paul nor Guy de Cassagnac would be allowed to assume the Government's prerogative of expelling foreigners from France.

Carl Lahm, the Paris correspondent of the Leipziger Tageblatt, whom M. Paul de Cassagnac warned to quit the country in forty-eight hours or fight, because of his favorable comment on the sentence of Hansi, the Alsatian artist, put the question of a duel into the hands of two French seconds, both of whom are members of the Chamber of Deputies.

These two and the two seconds appointed by Paul de Cassagnac met and found that Herr Lahm had taken no part in the anti-French attacks recently printed in the German papers. It was also found that Herr Lahm has lived in Paris for fifteen years and was married to a French woman. The seconds decided that there was no ground for a duel. As the four seconds signed this decision the challenge sent by Guy de Cassagnac to Herr Fuchs, the correspondent here of the Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger, will also fail.

Public sympathy is not with the Cassagnacs in the trouble over the Hansi case, which they have been exploiting in their paper, L'Autorité. It is thought that they have been too hasty and that they have accused men who are innocent of any connection with the affair.

The matter has, however, given rise to a discussion of the question of the moral liability of foreign correspondents for what appears in their papers. The highest authorities here, including the German Embassy and the French Foreign Office, have followed the developments very carefully as they are liable to cause a diplomatic incident. The German Ambassador has recommended to the German correspondents that they avoid giving offence over the matter, but promising them every support.

PRINCE WEDS LONDON GIRL.

King Alfonso's Cousin is Quietly Married in London.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, July 16.—There was a romantic wedding to-day at St. Charles's Church in Oslo street. The marriage, which was carried out in the most quiet manner, was that of Prince Alfonso, King Alfonso's cousin, Prince Carlos of Bourbon, a cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, and Miss Beatrice Harrington, a pretty London girl.

The couple met at Polkstone about a year ago. The Spanish royal family was quite unaware of the romance. The civil and religious ceremonies were performed in the church. In the course of the day the Spanish Ambassador to Great Britain was requested to recognize the marriage formally. He refused to do so until he had been so instructed from Spain.

PARIS TWINS ARE CUT APART.
Both Seem to Be Doing Well After the Operation.

PARIS, July 16.—Dr. Rene Rignot performed the operation of separating the "Siamese twins," Ann Maria and Maria Ann, who had been joined together by a ligament at the base of the vertebrae since their birth. The operation was regarded as having been completely successful.

Early this morning the twins were laid on the operating table and by 10 o'clock they were back in the arms of their nurse. They were ready and anxious for nourishment and the chances of both recovering are considered good, as each child has all its organs intact.

Dr. Howard Canning Taylor of New York and Dr. Martin of Chicago witnessed the operation. "As an operation it was magnificent. I am much impressed with the skill and science with which the case was conducted. It was worth crossing the Atlantic to see."

AVIATOR DIES FROM INJURIES.

PORTE CANNOT GET SPERRY STABILIZER

Inventor Tells Aviator He Has Not Time to Finish Gyroscope.

THEY CONFER IN NEW YORK

Lieutenant Waiting Until New Sea Sled Bottom for the America Is Built.

Elmer B. Sperry, the inventor of the Sperry gyroscope stabilizer for flying machines, told Lieut. John Cyril Porte in this city yesterday that he did not expect to have a stabilizer finished for the Rodman Wanamaker flying boat which Porte is to pilot on its transatlantic flight.

This was the most important topic of discussion among the transatlantic flight workers who were in New York yesterday. Lieut. Porte spent the day visiting Mr. Sperry, William D. Gash, who is Rodman Wanamaker's personal representative, and Capt. Creagh-Orborne, superintendent of compasses of the British Admiralty.

Mr. Sperry told Lieut. Porte that he could not have a stabilizer ready for the America even if the Government would give up its claim to the first one. The navy had ordered the first stabilizer from the Sperrys, but hope was held out that the Sperry plant in Brooklyn might be able to rush work on a stabilizer in time to have it done for Lieut. Porte's machine.

It was felt that the navy would allow Lieut. Porte to have the first stabilizer finished. But Mr. Sperry had to admit that, even with this courtesy, a stabilizer could not be finished in time.

Mr. Sperry, who has been to Washington, told Lieut. Porte that the navy officials were most enthusiastic over his coming transatlantic flight. Lieut. Porte is staying at the New York Club for a few days. He is a member of the club. He expects to return to Hampton Roads as soon as a new sea sled bottom for the America is built. He will then make what are expected to be the final tests.

PLANES MORE SUCCESSFULLY.
America Makes Better Showing Than in Previous Tests.

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., July 16.—With Glenn Curtiss in the pilot's seat the transatlantic flying boat America planned more successfully to-day than on her previous tests.

The America arose on slow speed to the surface of Lake Keuka with a load of approximately 1,200 pounds. This morning a new sea sled bottom was boarded in at each side to prevent the wash of waters over the upper surface. The boards ripped off in tests yesterday were replaced.

There was no flying this afternoon. A heavy rain started shortly after 3 o'clock. Curtiss said he might make tests to-morrow with the full transatlantic load.

Plans to Break Altitude Record in Kansas City July 23.

ALAN R. HAWLEY, president of the Aero Club of America, received a telegram yesterday from W. R. Strang of the Kansas City Aero Club asking for the loan of a barograph registering 25,000 feet. Mr. Strang said that Dr. Lloyd Thompson wants the barograph because he will try to break the world's altitude record on July 23 at the Overland aviation field in Kansas City.

President Hawley said that he did not have such a barograph to lend. It would take several weeks to make one registering that height.

DRAW CAILLAUX TRIAL JURY.
Maitre Labori Will Defend Accused Woman—Case Opens Monday.

PARIS, July 16.—President Louis Abanel of the Seine Assizes ordered today the drawing of the jury which will hear the evidence in the trial of Mme. Caillaux, wife of the former Minister of Finance, who murdered Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, in his office last March. The trial begins next Monday.

Thirty-six jurymen answered the summons and were addressed by Judge Abanel, who ordered that the jury be selected immediately.

The defense of Mme. Caillaux, which is in the hands of Maitre Labori, who defended Capt. Dreyfus, will seek to show that the shooting was unpremeditated and the result of a momentary impulse.

MRS. CARMAN IS CALM AT NEWS OF INDICTMENT

torney to have the indictment against Mrs. Carman made for second degree murder.

There was no doubt but that news of the indictment was a shock to Mrs. Carman. She had not expected it. Her husband had repeatedly told her that she would be set free this evening and her lawyer, George M. Levy, had said the same thing.

Perhaps during the seventeen days that have elapsed since Mrs. Bailey was shot there has been nothing more pathetic in the entire case than the scene today between Dr. Carman and his wife. When the Grand Jury came back from its recess at noon news was given out that the last witness had been called and that the jurors were deliberating. Some believed the decision would come within a few minutes.

Dr. Carman Was Restless.
What Dr. Carman thought is not known, but he tramped up and down through the corridors of the court house with evident impatience. He stopped and talked to reporters and asked their opinion.

He stopped representatives from the District Attorney's office and broached the subject of the Grand Jury's findings. He even stopped Sheriff Pettit and held him in a fifteen minute conversation as to his assurances regarding the outcome.

His assurances were so effective that Mrs. Carman's spirits rose steadily during the afternoon. At odd intervals her lawyer visited her and added his assurances to those of Dr. Carman.

It was Mr. Levy who broke the news to Mrs. Carman. She did not cry. She did not break down in any way. Her composure was as it has been from the very first—perfect. But the shock, coming as it did on the heels of so much hope, affected her more than anything else has. And yet, as was typical of her, she made no exclamation. There was not a word of regret or grief to Mr. Levy.

Perhaps there was some weakening when she and her husband met later. Certainly, when Dr. Carman appeared after his last visit with her, there was a gleam of pain about his face that has not been seen before.

Asks First About Bail.
Her first words to Mr. Levy were about bail. This subject had been pretty well thrashed over between them on previous occasions, and the lawyer had been able to say that the District Attorney would not make any opposition.

She shook off the first effects of the news in a few minutes and was so thoroughly recovered half an hour later that she agreed to receive a delegation of newspaper men and renew her declarations of innocence and an appeal.

The District Attorney would not give the wording of the appeal made to-day, but it is understood that it was much the same as the one she sent to the Grand Jury yesterday, reasserting her innocence and asking an opportunity to be heard. The reception of newspaper men was not held. It was just after she had expressed her desire to see them that word of the plan to get her to the police station reached Mr. Levy and he deemed silence the best course for the present.

Crime Theory Presented.
The enactment of the crime as it has been constructed before the Grand Jury is comparatively simple. The witnesses, Coe Coleman, saw Mrs. Carman dash into the kitchen immediately after the shooting. She warned Celia, the house maid, not to say that she had seen her and hurried on to her bedroom.

Another witness, Frank J. Farrell, a tramp, stood in the Carman yard with a plain sweep of lawn before him and saw a woman run from the rear of the house and smash the doctor's office window. The shot followed immediately, but Farrell had turned his back and run.

No one, unless it was Dr. Carman, saw Mrs. Bailey, the person who fired. Dr. Carman has testified that he saw her dash into the kitchen, but he said that it looked like a man's hand and like a left hand at that. And so far as known there is no one except Celia Coleman who saw Mrs. Carman outside of her bedroom.

Farrell saw a woman whose description fits Mrs. Carman, but he cannot identify her as the woman. There is no other evidence which connects Mrs. Carman with the crime in any way. Detectives have searched high and low for a revolver, but not one has been found. There is not even a hint so far that a 35 calibre revolver had ever been in the Carman residence.

Girl Contradicted Mother.
It was established for the Grand Jury that when the shot that killed Mrs. Bailey was fired Mrs. Carman's mother and sister were in the former's bedroom on the second floor of the house. Mrs. Carman has testified that she was in her bedroom. The Carman's daughter, Elizabeth, says that she was in the dining room on the opposite side of the house, looking out of the window, while Mrs. Carman testified before the Coroner that Elizabeth was in bed.

Besides the immediate family there were Celia, who was in the kitchen, and four patients, who were in the doctor's waiting room adjoining his office. Two of these were women and have not been located so far as is known.

Mrs. Carman's mother and sister, who came down the front stairs immediately after the shot was fired, say they met these women in the hall and let them out of the house. They didn't know who they were. The two men who were in the waiting room dashed into the office and saw Dr. Carman carrying Mrs. Bailey to a lounge.

A second later Mrs. Carman was seen coming down the front stairs, only half clad, by her mother and sister. She was wrapped in a blanket and put on a wrapper. Then she came down again and went to look at Mrs. Bailey.

In addition to this the Grand Jury has known of the photograph and the fact that Mrs. Carman placed it in her husband's office because she was jealous of women patients. What the Grand Jury may have been told about Dr. Carman's relations with other women and what Mrs. Carman may have heard of those relationships is not known. And

$100,000 IN A DAY FOR IRISH VOLUNTEERS

Meeting Sends Word to Mr. Redmond in Cable Message.

O'SULLIVAN'S SURPRISE

Ryan Comes Back With Another $25,000, Pledged From Pennsylvania.

Michael F. Ryan of Philadelphia, president of the United Irish League of America and Canada, was finishing an appeal for funds to aid the Irish Nationalist Volunteers at a meeting of the national executive committee in the Knickerbocker Hotel yesterday afternoon when a gray haired man arose from his seat in the back of the room and raised his hand.

"Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell, Mass.," said Mr. Ryan in recognition. "Mr. President," said Mr. O'Sullivan in sonorous tones that seemed to come from as far down as the pair of his own rubber heels that he was wearing, "the State of Massachusetts pledges itself to give $25,000 to the good cause."

"Wow," "Hurrah!" "What's the matter with O'Sullivan and Massachusetts?" These were a few of the cries that came from the sixty men and women in the room, and they had scarcely died down when Mr. Ryan, resigning the chair for a moment to Secretary M. J. Jordan of Boston, jumped to the front and shouted: "And the State of Pennsylvania pledges itself to give $25,000 to the good cause—and how do you like that, O'Sullivan?"

That's the way it went until at the end Mr. Ryan was able to send a cablegram to John E. Redmond, the Irish Nationalist leader in the House of Commons, telling him that the Irish Catholics in the United States had raised $100,000 in one day by popular subscription and that $10,000 of this would be cabled immediately.

Pledges Underestimated.
As a matter of fact considerably more than $100,000 was pledged yesterday, but the committee counted only definite assurances. Besides the two $25,000 contributions the Irish World handed in $5,500 in cash and promised $20,000 in addition, to be got by popular subscription in its columns. Other pledges were:

Dennis Gallagher, for New Jersey, $1,000; Rhode Island, $1,000; James Peeney, for Albany, $1,000; E. J. McCormick and Henry W. Killen, for Buffalo, $2,500; M. J. Redding, for Baltimore, $3,000; John Taffee and T. P. Tunney, for Brooklyn, $2,000; Martin T. Moloney, for Illinois, $10,000.

New York city didn't give anything yesterday, but Patrick Egan, former Minister to Chile, and Dr. Gertrude Kelly of 57 Madison avenue, two of whom have contributed, said the metropolis wouldn't be far behind the rest in the end.

The cablegram to Mr. Redmond said: "One hundred thousand dollars subscribed by national committees. Pittsburgh will cable $10,000 immediately. We await your fixing the date. All money needed by you will be forthcoming."

The convention is expected to be held in September. Mr. Redmond probably will be able to come here at that time and to bring with him other Nationalist leaders.

Bullets to Meet Queen Mary.
Gen. Moloney, former Attorney-General of Illinois, ex-Minister Egan, Father O'Reilly of Lowell, Capt. E. O'Mara Condon, once a riot prisoner in Ireland and under a death sentence; Mayor Pat J. Duane of Waltham, Mass., and others made plans for general support of Redmond and for money to buy arms and, as Dr. Kelly expressed it, for "bullets to meet Queen Mary."

Nearly every State in the Union was represented at yesterday's meeting and in addition U. S. O'Connor of Toronto and H. C. Flanagan of Montreal spoke for the cause.

AMENDING BILL UP MONDAY.

Measure Modifying Home Rule Will Be Considered in Commons.

Special Cable Dispatch to The Sun.
LONDON, July 16.—The discussion on the second reading of the amending bill to the home rule measure will begin in the House of Commons on Monday. Tuesday will also be devoted to consideration of the bill if necessary.

Up to the present there has been no sign of an agreement between the Government and the Unionists as to the amendments which may or may not be accepted.

McCLURE'S VIEWS ON IRELAND.
Believes Country Should Be Divided Like American States.

S. S. McClure, publisher of McClure's Magazine, has cabled the following views on the Ulster situation to the Christian Herald:

"I have spent four weeks visiting the seven counties of Ulster and also have interviewed many serious and well informed home rulers in other parts of Ireland. I have seen many military drills of bodies comprising as many as 3,000 men and have seen sham battles and other manoeuvres of the forces.

"On both sides the men are absolutely sincere and determined. Ulster is extraordinarily well organized on war footing and has shown abler management than most governments in military organization. Her people are calm and serious, disliking war, but will absolutely fight unless Ulster or nearly all Ulster is permitted to remain as at present.

"I saw little religious bigotry. I believe both sides fear too much, but the Protestants of Ulster are sure in their minds that home rule government would partake of the characteristics of Tammany Hall, involving crushing taxation which would fall heaviest on Ulster.

"The home rulers demand local government so as to reduce the cost of government, increase its efficiency and secure needed legislation for harbor improvements, etc. Ulster fears home rule, believing that it has no control laws and, as a result, that it would be a lawless and corrupt government would impoverish them.

"All Ireland is prosperous. There is little crime and no poverty in the north outside of the great cities.

"It would seem best if Ireland were to be divided into two States, as we understand States, letting each one have the right of local self-government or to determine its government like an American State."

AMERICANS START A REVOLT.
Two "Soldiers of Fortune" Lead Attack in Nicaragua—One Wounded.

BLUEFIELD, Nicaragua, July 16.—Complicating the already serious situation in Nicaragua, two American soldiers of fortune started a revolution of their own here at midnight of July 6. They were repulsed by a heavy machine gun fire. Their force made an attack on the Central barracks adjoining the National Palace, led by Clifford D. Sands, an American, who was made a colonel in the Nicaraguan army in the revolution of October, 1909, and W. S. Strange, an American, who said he was a civil engineer.

Two men were mortally hurt, one of whom has since died. The other lies at the point of death and five other more or less seriously wounded during the fighting, which lasted something less than thirty minutes. Sands was shot early in the engagement.

WANT ALL ASIATICS EXCLUDED.
British Columbia Labor Union Takes Action Against Hindus.

VANCOUVER, July 16.—The British Columbia Federation of Labor adopted resolutions last night demanding the exclusion of all Asiatics from Canada as inimical to the interests of the working classes.

The federation criticized the present head tax on Chinese as ineffective and voted to take a referendum on the question of a general strike as a protest against conditions on Vancouver Island, where the Nanaimo coal miners have been on strike for four months.

The attitude of the government in refusing to grant permission for the Hindus brought on the steamship Komagata Maru to land has excited the Hindus already in the province. There are reports that they are striving to arm themselves.
